PUBLICITY FIGHT AGAINST OPIUM IS PLANNED HERE

Names Of Smokers To Be Printed; Association To Approach Councils

SHOPS IN FRENCHTOWN

Municipal Council To Be Asked To Put End To Foochow Road Sales

A publicity campaign against opium smoking by individuals including officials, and against the sale of the drug and its allied products and opium smoking paraphernalia was planned at the general meeting of the executive committee of the International Anti-opium Association yesterday.

Certain newspapers in Shanghai have offered to publish periodically black lists of individuals making use of the drug, and shops selling narcotics and "anti-opium pills."

Yesterday's resolutions included the sending of a delegation to call on M. Wilden, the French Consul-General, with reference to opium conditions in the French Settlement. It is reported by investigators especially authorised by the committee that there are today 50 opium selling shops in the concession and many more selling what is known a "anti-opium" pills, which, it is reported, are nothing but powdered herbs containing a solution of morphia. Richsha coolies and other poor people consume the pills.

The Municipal Council will also be approached on the question of the open sale on Foochow and other roads of opium smoking paraphernalia, it was decided, and the committee will also bring up the matter of licensing the sale of "anti-opium" pills.

Definite steps in way of opium prohibition are also planned to be taken at the annual ratepayers' meeting in April.

All of opium, morphia and opium smoking paraphernalia confiscated by the Nantao Criminal Court from [illegible] 1, 1920, to December 31, 1920, will be burned this morning in front of the Court in the Chinese City. Representatives of the local bureaus have been invited to attend.

5 SINN FEINERS TO BE EXECUTED

Five To Die For Part In Ambush, One For Carrying Gun

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 28.—Six Sinn Feiners are to be executed at Cork Barracks this morning—five for preparing an ambush and the sixth for being in the possession of a revolver and a book entitled "Night Fighting." Prayers have been offered in the Catholic churches for the "grace and happy death" of the condemned men. The corporation of the City of Cork urged that a reprieve should be granted, while in the case of the sixth prisoner the authority of the military courts to impose the death sentence has been challenged in the King's Bench in Dublin.

London, Feb. 26.—Headquarters, Dublin, states that after the ambush at Macroom, county Cork, 70 Royal Fusiliers in motor-lorries pursued parties of rebels across a mountainous boggy region to the Cork-Kerry boundary, where the pursuit was abandoned as other rebels appeared on the high ground behind the military.

Two civilians were killed and one captured in the course of this two hours' running fight. There were no military casualties. A constable who was wounded in the ambush died during the night. Macroom was quiet last night.

Harding's Naval Policy To Stand

(U. S. Naval Radio through Reuter)

Washington, Feb. 26.—President-Elect Harding's notification to the Senate that he desires a continuance of the present naval building program without material reductions is regarded as a definite statement of the new administration's naval policy. Accordingly Republican leaders in the Senate declared today that even at the risk of defeat this session, they would insist on an increase by the Senate over the Naval Appropriation's total as passed by the House of Representatives.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The Navy Department announces that limited appropriations may prevent the foreign cruises of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets this year. The intention was to send the Atlantic fleet to South America and Cape Town and the Pacific fleet to Australia, New Zealand and the Orient.

GREEK-TURKISH ENVOYS PREPARE TO PUSH CLAIMS

Delegations Busy Over The Week-end With Plans For Conference

AWAIT HOME RULINGS

Allied Spokesman Says Armenia Will Be Fully Protected

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 27.—Although no formal conferences have been held since Saturday, the members of the Near East Conference were by no means idle over the week-end. Sectional meetings of individual delegations were held today to thresh out the details of the questions that arose during the past week and are likely to arise in the future. Up to the present no meeting has been arranged for tomorrow, and the lull will probably remain unbroken until the Greek and Turkish delegations have received replies from their respective governments.

London, Feb. 26.—Lord Curzon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, presided over a conference at the Foreign Office this afternoon, when an Armenian delegation, headed by Nubar Pasha, and representatives of the Erivan Government, stated their case in connection with a possible revision of the Treaty of Sevres. Neither Mr. Lloyd George nor M. Briand was present, but Count Sforza, the Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs, and several French Ministers attended the meeting.

An official communique on the subject of the meeting states that Bekir Sami declared that the Kurds were already largely represented on the National Assembly at Angora, that they enjoyed wide local autonomy and did not desire independence.

TO PRESERVE ARMENIA

Lord Curzon, the communique continues, pointed out with regard to Armenia, that the Powers had not the slightest intention of abandoning their obligation to constitute a united, stable Armenia. It was important, he said, in the interests both of the Turks and the Armenians, to lay down a frontier which was accepted by all parties, would restore to Armenia the districts of which she had recently been deprived, and would afford her a secure national existence.

Nubar Pasha today received a telegram from the Patriarch Zaven of Constantinople, alleging that the Turks had massacred 85 percent of the Armenian population in the regions of Kars and Alexandropol.

The Paris papers refer to yesterday's discussions of the Near Eastern Conference as "the most gratifying diplomatic success for M. Briand, in harmony with Mr. Lloyd George."

Little enthusiasm, is apparent, however, in the English press which states that the proposed Commission of Enquiry into the conditions of the populations of Smyrna and Eastern Thrace is not liked by the British Government, who consider that everything was sufficiently examined before the Treaty of Sevres was drafted.

France's Finance Minister Does Bit Of Press Agenting

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 27.—During a discussion on the Foreign Affairs Estimates in the Chamber, the Minister of Finance, replying to a question as to whether the use of French wines was forbidden at the French Embassy in Washington, said the Ambassador, M. Jusserand, was too good a judge of wine to exclude the best in the world from his table. On the contrary, he was convinced that M. Jusserand would be able to show America that, if it were a good thing to combat alcoholism, French wines were the best antidote for the purpose.

Follows Father's Footsteps

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

YOUNG TEDDY IN DAD'S OLD JOB

Made Assistant Secretary Of Navy By President-elect Harding

(Reuter's Service)

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 27.—Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, son of the late ex-President, has been appointed Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Theodore Roosevelt, namesake of the former president, has risen rapidly in American politics due in part to the prestige attached to his name, and in part to a natural gift for public life inherited from his famous father.

With his three brothers young Roosevelt was quick to get into the world war. One of his brothers, Quentin, was killed in combat with a German airman and Theodore was severely wounded.

Following his return from France young Roosevelt engaged for a time in the brokerage business in Wall street, and it was reported that in a remarkably short time he "cleaned up" $300,000. He then became a candidate for the state legislature at Albany and was easily elected. During his term in the legislature he did not attract particular attention, and surprised some of his father's old partisans by voting against the proposal to unseat the five Socialist assemblymen who were repeatedly thrown out of the legislature because of their un-American attitude during the war.

Mr. Roosevelt married the daughter of American Ambassador Willard to Spain, and he and Mrs. Roosevelt are the parents of four children.

In becoming Assistant secretary of the Navy Mr. Roosevelt assumes the job once held by his father.

BANKER THINKS TRADE IN CHINA WILL BOOM SOON

Hongkong and Shanghai Chairman Optimistic For Future

INTERIOR SHELVES BARE

Explains Benefits Of Consortium, Discusses Rail Unification

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Feb. 26.—In the course of his speech at the annual meeting of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, the chairman, in a reference to the silver market, said: "It is upon China that the burden will fall of absorbing an amount equal to the world production of silver. China's trade balance is at present the governing factor in the silver situation, and the prospect of her being able to increase, or even maintain, last year's import of 98,500,000 ounces is, to say the least, doubtful."

Dealing with the trade position in China, he stated: "Speaking generally, the stocks of imported goods lying in Hongkong and China ports is not excessive, and not more than what was normal in pre-war times. It is known that the markets of the interior are bare of supplies, so that it is to be hoped that trade will soon resume its normal course. There are already welcome indications of this. There is little doubt that the future prospects of the cotton industry in China are encouraging.

Speaking on the aims and objects of the Consortium, the chairman said: "While it provides the general machinery for future borrowings by China, it does not contemplate a large immediate loan. Indeed, so long as the hold of the Central Government on the Provinces is in its present unsatisfactory condition, and so long as a likelihood of war between the contending factions remains, no loan can be considered.

"On the other hand, the Consortium is a notice to China of the conditions under which the great Powers will lend the sinews of reconstruction, and is virtually a notice that, without the fulfilment of these conditions, China will not be able to borrow at all. If in the result this should lead to China borrowing at home rather than abroad, so much the better.

"By pooling all outstanding agreements and options, and by an undertaking to share equally the financial and commercial results of all future business, the Powers, in effect, undertake to preserve China from those encroachments upon her sovereignty which followed in the train of concessions in the past. There will be no more 'battle of concessions.' There will be no more playing off by China of one Great Power against another."

In conclusion, the chairman alluded to the question of the unification of the railways. Were there, he said, a Chinese railway service moulded on secure lines, and characterised by the same integrity as the Customs service, the time would not be far distant when the end of railway borrowing would be in sight.

The meeting unanimously adopted a resolution to raise the fees of the directors from $30,000 to $50,000.

Mass Meeting And Parade To Be Opening Events Of Famine Drive March 11-19

Publicity Organisation's Purpose Is To Focus Thought Of All In Shanghai On Crying Needs In North During Campaign

In the period March 11-19 every interest in Shanghai—and probably every individual—will be brought to a full realisation of the needs of the stricken people of the north where whole populations are dying for want of food. This is the purpose of the publicity organisation of the Shanghai Famine Relief Committee which met yesterday afternoon to arrange the multitudinous details in preparation for the drive that is to be held.

The famine relief drive, into which the concentrated efforts of the 22 relief organisations of Shanghai have been thrown, will open with a frontal attack—with a general demonstration which it is believed will carry its effect into every corner of Shanghai. The prologue is to consist of a great mass meeting to be held, according to plans outlined in the Town Hall. Following this mass meeting, on the morning of Sunday March 13, a spectacular pageant is to be arranged to parade into every part of the various Settlements.

WORK IN VIEW

The campaign will be ushered in with these two events and after they are over the final systematised work of collecting the last dollar available to feed the hungry millions will be opened and will continue through the week along lines that have been planned carefully. On the final day of the drive, Saturday, March 19, a tag day is to be held when all those on the street will be asked to contribute in return for flags that will be distributed.

Mr. Benton Saunders, Foreign Executive Secretary of the publicity organisation, presided at the meeting held yesterday. He explained that for the purposes of carrying through the drive into effect the general committee had been subdivided into three subcommittees, one in charge of the publicity work, one in general charge of the work of solicitation and the third in charge of finances. The arrangements for the mass meeting, the parade, for the distribution of posters, printing and for general advertising work has been entrusted to the publicity committee.

THE MASS MEETING

Complete arrangements for the mass meeting are to be carried out in the coming week and the details will be announced as soon as possible. It is understood that Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul-General, Mr. H. Wilden French Consul-General, and General Ho Fung-ling will take an active part in the meeting and Mr. C. C. Nieh, assisted by Mr S. K. Tsao and Dr. C. T. Wan will be invited to serve as chairmen. It is probable that direct appeal for larger subscriptions from hongs, guilds and other organisations, and from individual capitalists will be presented at this mass meeting. Several addresses will be given and a program of other features may be arranged.

THE PARADE

According to present plans the parade on Sunday will start from the race track. Every commercial and most of the social organisations will be asked with others to take part. Students bodies generally are to be in the line of march while the Boy Scouts are to have a part.

Some indication of the completeness with which arrangements are being carried forward is given in the fact that, anticipating great throngs of onlookers, emergency relief stations for all who may require the attention of physicians are to be established along the line of march. Physicians are to be asked to volunteer for this work.

Details concerning the parade, including the line of march are to be arranged as rapidly as may be. It is understood that General Ho will be invited to act as Grand Marshal and Capt. Zee Tung-hao, commanding the Chinese Company, S.V.C., also will be asked to take a prominent part.

ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

Advertising the entire drive a most comprehensive scheme of publicity is being worked out and the purposes in view are to be kept before the public in newspaper advertisement, by stereopticon slides outside and in the moving

GERMANS IN LONDON FOR CONFERENCE; HANDS TIED

Von Simons Has Only Limited Powers, Report

BERLIN 'ON WIRE'

United Front To Be Presented—French "Prepared"

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 28.—With the arrival in London of the German Foreign Minister, Dr. von Simons, together with a party of some eighty Germans, including a score of newspaper correspondents, who will be housed at the Savoy Hotel at the expense of the British Government, practically all the participants in the fateful Reparations Conference are now on the spot. The German delegates include General von Seeckt, the Minister of War; Herr Schroeder, the Minister of Finance; Herr von Lesnere, the Minister of Economics and Herr Bergmann, the German representative on the Reparations Commission.

HAS LIMITED POWERS

It is reported from Berlin that Dr. von Simons comes with limited powers, and cannot pledge Germany to any given course "off his own bat," but at each step in the proceedings he will telegraphically seek the sanction of his cabinet, which will be in something like perpetual session for that purpose. Great secrecy is being maintained in Berlin in regard to the German counter-proposals, but the favorite report at present in circulation is that Germany will offer a total indemnity of 7,500 millions sterling, spread over a period of thirty years. It is also rumored in Paris that the principle of the German counter-proposals will be raised on the handing over to the Entente of a certain percentage of shares in German industrial concerns.

While the Germans were proceeding to London, the Entente chiefs have been conferring at Chequers in almost summer-like weather. To judge by Mr. Lloyd George's declaration: "We are prepared for all contingencies," the most satisfactory results have apparently been achieved. Whilst the Germans have an opportunity of proposing methods for the payment of the indemnity, there seems little likelihood of their being able to secure any material reduction of it, if the second report of the economic experts who took part in the conference at Brussels, which has now been issued, is any criterion.

HOWS ABILITY TO PAY

This document gives weighty reasons why Germany is well able to pay, and points out that her actual economic situation is better than that of any other continental state. Her industrial plant is undamaged, she has very little foreign indebtedness, the low exchange value of the mark greatly favors her foreign trade, disarmament will immensely relieve her finances, and the abolition of conscription will greatly increase her productive manpower.

London, Feb. 27.—The correspondent of the Agence Havas at Chequers states that Mr. Lloyd George and M. Briand, in the course of conversations with Marshal Foch, considered the sanctions to be enforced against Germany in the event of Germany's refusing to accept the conditions of the Paris agreement. The Premiers were in agreement in regard to the necessity of summoning a commission of experts, with a view to considering the enforcement of the sanctions decided upon by the Paris conference.

General Nollet, the president of the Inter-Allied Control Commission in Germany, has arrived in London to attend the Reparations Conference.

Paris, Feb. 25: (delayed).—Speaking in the Chamber of Deputies, M. Barthou, the Minister of War, stated that the mobilised forces intended to safeguard France's security, would also enable her to bring pressure to bear upon adversaries who attempted to escape from their obligations. He added that all the material and equipment needed were ready.

Huge Paving Stone Weights Down Body Found In Creek

Chinese City authorities began an inquest yesterday over the body of a male Chinese which was found Saturday in the Tsangkeu Creek, nearly half a mile West of Ferry Road well outside the Settlement boundary. The creek runs between Macao and Ichang Roads.

The body, which had evidently been in the creek three or four months, was held under water by a paving stone nearly three feet long and weighing between 150 and 200 pounds. A rope had been tied tightly around the neck of the victim and then to the stone. The front of the skull was badly crushed, as though by a blow.

Britain To Spend Big Sums On Aeros

Estimates For 1921 And 1922 Call For Total Of £18,411,000

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 26.—The British air estimates for the years 1921 and 1922 amount to £18,411,000 net, compared with £22,992,000 for 1920 and 1921. The former include war charges totalling £1,471,000 net, making the 1921 and 1922 estimates, excluding war charges, £16,940,000, compared with £14,998,000 for 1920 and 1921.

The increase in normal expenditure is due to the creation of five additional squadrons. To obtain the figure £18,411,000, every item has been most stringently scrutinised. All services have been curtailed to the utmost, in view of the financial stringency, and after consultation with the Admiralty, it has been decided to suspend the airship service, the maintenance of which for fighting purposes would have involved a diminution of effort on services whose fighting value has been more fully demonstrated.

£60,000 have been assigned to subsidise civil aviation companies. It has been found impossible to stint the experimental research services, the provision for which is practically the same as in the 1920 and 1921 estimates.

Silver Shipment Rifled On Train

A consignment of silver being sent from Nanking by the Pao Kang Bank to the American Express Co. here was broken into on the night express train Saturday and $407 were taken out. The robbery was called to the attention of trainmen by a passenger at Wusieh who noticed that a hole had been bored in the iron wall of the car.

Iron Makers To Hold Conference

New York, Feb. 26.—A meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute has discussed plans for holding an international conference of iron and steel-makers this or next summer.

Mr. E. H. Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, announced at the meeting that there was no intention of reducing wages or steel prices.

Distribution Of Man-Power Great British Problem

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 27.—In an article contributed to Lloyd's Sunday News, Col. Leopold Amery, the Parliamentary Under-Secretary for the Colonies, deals with inter-imperial emigration. While admitting that emigration does not provide an immediate remedy for unemployment, he expresses the conviction that in the long run the satisfactory solution of the problems not only of employment but of defense depends on the adoption, in co-operation with the Dominions, of a comprehensive imperial policy for the better distribution of the man-power of the Empire by State-aided Empire settlement.

"We aim," he said, "at a definite, continuous policy of co-operation between all the Governments of the Empire, with a view to the best distribution of its man-power, and the progressive building up of the economic and defensive strength of the Empire as a whole." He emphasised that only men and women likely to make good should be encouraged to emigrate, and these should stay within the Empire.

Find Easy Way To Gain Entry To U.S.

(Reuter's Service)

Galveston, Texas, Jan. 28 (by mail).—So many Europeans have taken advantage of an alleged loophole in the American Seaman's Act, local steamship agents assert, that numbers of foreign steamship operators are adopting the precaution of bonding their sailors to complete round-trip voyages to America.

The local agents declare that deserters from vessels flying foreign flags are beyond the reach of the United States immigration authorities. If the sailor, upon being taken into custody, states that he intends to sail on the "first available ship" the immigration authorities have no alternative, under the provisions of the Seaman's act, but to free him. Then, although an attempt is made to keep the sailor under surveillance, the deserter frequently manages to make good his escape.

It is asserted that in this way riffraff from Russia, Germany and other European countries finds comparatively little difficulty in getting into the United States.

BOMB AT WING ON'S

A bomb, accompanied by a threatening letter, was found Sunday in the cinema hall of the new portion of the Wing On building. It was a cylindrical metal affair about three inches by two and a half, with a screw cap. A number of Chinese firms have received threatening letters of late, usually signed by "The Society for the Rescue of China," and the bomb in the Wing On building, which was found under one of the seats, is believed to have sent out by the same band.

League Prohibits Arms Manufacture

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 27.—On the advice of Viscount Ishii, acting as reporter, the Council of the League of Nations has refused an application from the Prime Minister of the town of Danzig for an authorisation for the manufacture of 50,000 rifles for the Peruvian Government at the Danzig arms factory.

The Council discussed Switzerland's refusal to permit the passage of troops through her territory to Vilna, in order to superintend the plebiscite. The submission by the Swiss representative that difficulties were feared in consequence of the lack of agreement between Poland and Lithuania as regards holding the plebiscite, and the Soviet's opposition to foreign contingents, was disposed of by M. Leon Bourgeois, who stated that the former objection was unfounded, and all arrangements had been made in the case of the intervention of the Soviets. The matter was adjourned for several days to enable the Swiss Federal Council to re-examine the question.

Columbia, Missouri, Jan. 19 (by mail).—Following the announcement that the 1921 session of the Press Congress of the World will be held in Honolulu in October, instead of at Sydney, N. S. W., as originally intended, the president of the Congress (Professor Walter Williams, Dean of the School of Journalism connected with the University of Missouri) states that after the sessions of the Congress the delegates will take an excursion to the Philippine Islands. The Congress will be the guests of the Hawaiian Government during their stay in that territory, and the Philippine Government will be their host on the excursion to the Philippines.

HEARTS OF OAK

Oak has long been known as a wood of sterling qualities. The stoutest vessels which ever put to sea were made from English Oak; some of them are still to be seen lying at moorings, where they have lain for a century or more, unwanted, as out of date and dilapidated. The timber in them, however, is as good as the day when it was hewn from its forest home.

It is, then, a wood which will stand all the wear and rough knocks which either you, your children or your grand-children will be able to give to it, and then be a pleasure to look upon.

YAP ISSUE MAY GO TO LEAGUE

Japan Objects To Inclusion Of Dispute In Cable Conference

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, Feb. 26.—The International Cable Conference reassembles tomorrow, but there seems small chance of agreement on the distribution of the ex-German cables. Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States are now agreed on the question of principle; the differences which have arisen only concern the application of the principles.

Japan on the other hand is understood to object to the inclusion of the Yap controversy in the discussions at Washington while the American contention is that Yap falls within the scope of the Conference.

Despatches from Paris state that the theory is advanced there that the only possible friendly solution of the Yap controversy would be internationalisation of the island under Japanese supervision. It is believed that the question will have finally to be submitted to the Supreme Council.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 27.—The report that Sir Auckland Geddes will mediate on the Yap question is discredited here. The State Department declares that it has not heard of any offer, and does not expect one. In official circles, it is pointed out that it would be an unusual proceeding for one of the interested parties to attempt to act as umpire.

New York, Feb. 26.—The Associated Press Washington correspondent states: "It is understood that Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, has been instructed to attempt immediate mediation between the United States and Japan on the subject of the Pacific cables."

Australia To Have New Trade Bureau

(Reuter's Service)

Sydney, Feb. 26.—Mr. W. M. Hughes, Prime Minister of Australia, announces that in view of the widening field of profitable trade in the Far East, the Federal Government will shortly ask Parliament for authority to establish a Trade Commissioner service, which will be linked up with the Bureau of Commerce and Industry.

Meanwhile, several temporary appointments will be made, the first being that of Mr. Edward Little as Australian Trade Commissioner for China.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, Feb. 28.—Coincident with Reuter's announcement of the appointment of an Australian Trade Commissioner in the Far East, the North China Commerce publishes an eight page article comprehensively reviewing Australian trade in China. The article says that the neglect of Australian opportunities is manifested in the adverse trade balance Australia is in a better position than her competitors to supply certain articles, but, owing to the lack of intelligent exploitation, her exports to China have shown no progress for the last thirteen years. The journal urges that the Government should take adequate action, and that manufacturers should take a direct interest in the China markets by sending representatives to study the field, organise agencies and bring credit, shipping and advertising facilities into line with their competitors.

Panama Getting Ready To Fight

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 26.—A Lloyd's message from Panama, dated yesterday, states that alarming reports have been received to the effect that Costa Rica has forcibly occupied the disputed border territory hitherto held by Panama. Conscription has begun in Panama and the war feeling is strong. Canal transit has not been affected.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The State Department is considering its course of action in the event of it becoming necessary to avert war between Panama and Costa Rica. The Department states that the request to return the arms surrendered by Panama in 1916 cannot be complied with because the arms in question have already been disposed of, and the money received for them returned to Panama.

Ex-German Ship Meets Accident

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 27.—There was another addition today to the list of mysterious accidents which have befallen ex-German ships handed over to the Allies.

Rail Accidents Decrease In U.S.

Organised Safety Work Achieves Remarkable Results, Figures Show

(Reuter's Service)

Chicago, Jan. 23 (by mail).—Remarkable success has attended the organised safety work carried on during the thirteen years in the railways of the United States, according to statistics published by the headquarters of the National Safety Council. The figures show that if the number of persons killed in railway accidents during each of the last thirteen years had been in the same ratio to the tonnage carried as was the case in 1906, 38,621 more persons would have been killed in railway accidents than the number actually recorded.

The number of persons killed in railway accidents during 1919—6975—is the lowest on record since 1899, while the number of persons injured—147,018—is the lowest since 1910. Taking passengers alone, the number killed in 1919 was fewer than in 1888, although between those years passenger mileage increased more than 360 percent and freight tonnage increased more than 500 percent. Moreover, there was a noteworthy decrease in the number of railway employes killed in 1919 as compared with the previous year, viz., 1693 (an average of 0.85 per 1,000 employed), as against 2759 (an average of 1.45).

'INEVITABLE? BAH!' SAYS CHESTERTON

Doesn't Believe In Fatalism Or Prophecy When It Comes To Human Affairs

New York, Jan. 22.—G. K. Chesterton spoke in the Times Square Theater yesterday afternoon in answer to his question, "Shall We Abolish the Inevitable?" With humorous illustration and delicate sublety he showed the fallacy of fatalism, the uselessness of prophecy in the field of human affairs.

"Like the man who did not believe in ghosts because he had seen so many," he said, "I do not believe in inevitable fates. When I was young it was prophecied that the small nations would be absorbed into three or four empires. It was even said that Ireland might become a part of the British Empire. Instead, we have lived to see the small States absorb much of the balance of power."

"Belief in the inevitable," he continued, "always presupposes a sort of vacuum in which forces are working. The moves in a game of chess are mathematical facts, but suppose you prophecy that one player in a certain game will checkmate his opponent in a number of moves. He may go crazy or kick over the board in a rage or in a spirit of compassion make all his moves wrong ones. All predictions are like that. They presuppose that the rules will be kept to, but suppose they are not. Again, the thing you predict may actually happen; but you do not know what other events will accompany or possibly destroy it.

Avoid passive verbs. Don't say that wages rise and fall as if they were tides of the ocean; but say that a certain individual has raised or lowered the wages of other individuals. Intangible falsehood based upon no authority is of all things the most difficult to fight.

"If, for example, you should walk into a parlor filled with your friends and say, 'The Pope (or the Bible) says you must not eat muffins,' no one would be much interested; but if instead you said, 'Haven't you heard, Didn't you know that muffins kill people?' a rapt expression of faith would come upon their faces.

"If we are going to discuss a moral, social or political matter, let us in God's name ask whether the thing we propose to abolish or to foster is good or bad in itself, and examine every question upon its own merits. Then our minds will be cleared of this fog of fatality which hangs upon our civilisation. Whatever man is, he is not in that sense a part of nature. He has committed crimes and performed heroisms which no animal ever tried to do. Let us hold ourselves free from the boundary of the material order of things, for so shall we have a chance in the future to do things far too historic for prophecy."

Says Dancing Serves Useful Social Ends

Boston Professor Declares It A Natural Instinct Like Eating, Fighting And Mating

Boston, Jan. 22.—Dancing is an instinct which is very much better expressed than suppressed, said Professor Emil Carl Wilm, head of the Department of Psychology at Boston University, in a serious defense of natural pleasures today.

"Dancing serves a useful social end," he added. "It gives married people the opportunity to associate with persons of the opposite sex under conventional circumstances, and it helps uphold conventional society.

"Dancing is an instinct like eating, fighting and mating. There is no one who can't dance, as it is only accentuated walking. My two-and-a-half-year-old son one-steps and fox-trots.

"Modern dancing is partly sensual, partly an expression of a love for rhythm and partly much-needed exercise. All of these functions are natural and therefore the appeal of dancing cannot help but be widespread. Our highly conventional society suppresses a great many natural pleasures, but dancing has not been abolished by the blue law reformers yet, and it is one of the few natural pleasures left.

"The overemphasis that is sometimes placed on dancing is the result of what psychologists know as inhibitions. Unless normal instincts get an expression or have some compensation they are apt to burst out in unusual forms.

"For instance, all women have the maternal instinct and the modern bachelor woman, her instinct unsatisfied and repressed, compensates by taking a passionate interest in animals, or else she becomes a champion of feminism."

BILL OF EXCHANGE CASE JUDGMENT IN BRITISH COURT

Plaintiffs Succeed In Claim Against A. E. S. Thompson

Judgment for the plaintiffs was given by Judge Skinner Turner of the British Supreme Court yesterday in the case of a claim for £2,573 with interest and costs brought against A. E. S. Thompson, trading as A. E. S. Thompson and Co., by James Morrison and Co.

The action had to do with bills of exchange, the claim being against defendant as acceptor for the amount named, payable January 16, 1921 to the order of the Chartered Bank, presented and dishonored. The Bank had recourse to the plaintiffs, who paid the amount due.

The defendant, who was represented by Mr. J. H. Teesdale, applied for leave to defend. The defendant in his affidavits submitted that by agreement with the plaintiffs he was entitled to extensions on bills of exchange up to the amount of £5,000. He admitted any claim by plaintiffs over that sum and stated that to the best of his belief at the time the amount in question fell due extension had been granted on the total sum of £3,253.16.9.

The plaintiffs, represented by Mr. E. L. Hartopp, submitted that, while the arrangement had been made, it was a matter for the discretion of the bank manager, who would be guided to some extent by the market. A bill of exchange, it was contended, is a negotiable instrument, which must be treated at maturity as cash or a check and it would shake things up tremendously if the Court were to hold a straightforward bill of exchange to be open to all sorts of equities and sub-agreements between parties. Mr. Hartopp stated that plaintiffs were willing to agree to leave to defend if defendant would pay the amount claimed into Court, insuring against loss.

The Court, in giving judgment, agreed that the agreement could not be binding upon the bank, which might make extensions if it liked.

While the publicity committee's meeting was in progress yesterday a session of the general committee also was held when routine business was transacted. In reply to an offer of grain from Canada the committee, according to action taken, will wire its thanks and will at the same time notify the Dominion Government at Ottawa that it will serve ends in China far better to send the cash value of the grain, which can be procured in the north at a great saving of time.

TIENTSIN PLANS BIG BASEBALL DOINGS FOR 1921

Has $1,085 In Treasury; Capt. R. T. McDonald Is New President

LOCAL CLUB IDLE

Membership Campaign Not To Start Until April, Committee Says

With $1,085 in the treasury before the season opens Tientsin plans a banner baseball year and will start by sending a team to Shanghai to compete in the Far East open championship series which will be held here in May in connection with the Olympic Games.

At the annual meeting of the Club Captain R. T. McDonald was elected president to succeed Mike Kampf and William M. Pustau was named secretary and manager. E. F. Riley of the International Bank will continue as treasurer and other members of the executive committee for 1921 are J. J. Gilmour and W. E. Maloney.

A call for candidates will be issued as soon as the weather warrants the action and then practice games will be arranged with the Tientsin Juniors, 15th Infantry and other nines in order to get the aggregation in shape for the Shanghai trip late in May.

LOCAL CLUB QUIET

In the meantime the Shanghai Amateur Baseball Club, even with the weather voting a strong affirmative, is letting things slip along until the first of April before starting after members. Why the action was taken no one seems to know but there will be absolutely nothing in the way of a membership campaign until another sheet is torn off the calendar, the aggressive 1921 committee has decreed.

In other words the committee is piling up work instead of spreading it out, is eliminating the possibility of getting extra members and deploring the idea of getting money in the treasury early.

The idea of a membership campaign to start immediately is not an insane one. It would mean money to start the season and would result in increased membership.

Consul To Speak At Liberty Club House Warming

A vaudeville program and short speeches by the American Consul-in-charge and others will feature the smoker Saturday night when the Liberty Club will be hosts to the members of the Baseball Club and the Frederick Ward Post of the American Legion. The smoker will be in the new quarters of the Club on North Soochow Road in the building formerly occupied by the Russian post office.

Bill Chapman, secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce and a factor in local baseball, has been elected treasurer of the organisation.

CHINA'S QUINTET IN INTERNATIONAL SERIES A HUMMER

Chinese Y.M.C.A. Five Will Be Nucleus And Seeks College And School Stars

Captain T. T. Zee of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. basketball team is willing that his team shall be the nucleus of the quintet to represent China in the coming International series but desires strength from schools and colleges.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Sporting Editor,

Sir,—The sporting page of THE CHINA PRESS has expressed the opinion that the Chinese Y. M. C. A. should represent China in the coming International basketball series against fives representing Canada, England, Portugal, the United States, Korea and possibly others.

Members of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. team realise that in addition to the four in the Far East Intercollegiate Athletic Association there are teams in middle and high schools which have men who are as good players as those on any of the foreign teams.

Consequently the Chinese Y. M. C. A. team feels that it does not have the right to represent China. The members of the team believe that school or college players should not be left out.

If the Y. M. C. A. team may be considered a nucleus, it will be pleased to receive the names of those desiring to try out for the China team which will play in the International series. Applications should be made to the undersigned before the end of this week.

T. T. Zee.

PEKING MARINES DEFEAT SOLDIERS AT ICE HOCKEY

Legation Guard Crew Wins From Tientsin Infantry By 8-0 Score

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Feb. 25.—The American Marines, skating fast and playing well together, beat the 15th Infantry seven at ice-hockey on the Marine Rink this morning to the tune of 8 to 0. A large crowd of Marines and civilians witnessed the match and cheered the local outfit to victory in one of the cleanest and fastest games ever played on the Guard Rink.

Referee Cameron blew the starting whistle at a few minutes past ten, and the Marine forwards, Jarka, Brown, O'Brien and Knauff immediately swept down to the soldiers' goal, where the goalkeeper was soon bombarded with shots. After four minutes Knauff scored from a long shot that went between the goalkeeper's knees and three minutes later Jarka netted the puck again after a pretty short run through half the Infantry team. Brown completed the first half scoring with a goal from scrimmage shortly before the whistle blew.

AND FIRST TO SCORE

In the second half the Marines outclassed the soldiers, and O'Brien (2), Jarka, Brown and Knauff scored at regular intervals of some three minutes. The ice was very sticky and slow in this half but nothing hindered the Marines, Jarka was especially fast and skillful on his feet, while Knauff did some fine long-distance shooting and Brown kept his team well together, O'Brien and Austen of the Marines showed great improvement over their previous performances this season, and Carchner at point played his usual steady game. Reed, the Marine goalkeeper, had little to do, but kept out what little came his way.

For the Infantry Racicot at rover played a sterling game. He is a fast skater and a good dribbler, but, unsupported by his teammates, found it impossible to get within shooting distance of the Marine goal. The Infantrymen's goalkeeper was busy all the time and saved a lot of shots. His chief fault was a tendency to run out of goal too much. The rest of the 15th team seemed to have an off day. There is, in any case, no other way of explaining their good showing against the Tientsin Civilians as compared with today's debacle.

Hongkong Derby To Potts For Third Successive Year With Billy Hill Riding

Invincible King Continues Record For Shanghai Stable; Supposedly Lame, Pony Breaks Track Record; Vida Favorite In Betting

Invincible King, which won the Hongkong Derby last week is the third pony owned by Mr. G. H. Potts of Shanghai to win the Derby at Hongkong in as many years. And Billy Hill was the jockey who piloted Mountain King in 1919, Allied King in 1920 and Invincible King in 1921.

There were eight starters. The two Dahlias retained public favor. Speckled Mouse, after his victory in the Trial Stakes, received surprisingly little support. Invincible King was the unknown quantity. He was reported lame on Wednesday, when he did not start at all. He came out bandaged for the Derby but seemingly quite well.

Hope Dahlia, with Mr. Yida up, was made favorite (581 takers). Honesty Dahlia (Mr. Knoll) had 332, Invincible King (Mr. Hill) 290, Coat of Arms (Mr. Johnstone) 236, and Speckled Mouse (Mr. Wuilleumier) 173.

The start was quickly effected. Harlequin (Mr. Heard) jumped out with Coat of Arms, Forest Child (Mr. Soares) and Honesty Dahlia in close attendance. The pace was a cracker.

Past the post the first time Harlequin had a lead of six lengths from Coat of Arms, who was a little in front of Forest Child and Honesty Dahlia. Then, strung out, were Speckled Mouse, Hope Dahlia, Invincible King and The Renown.

COMES IN STRETCH

At the football stands Harlequin petered out. Coat of Arms and Honesty Dahlia went to the front in that order, with Harlequin third and the rest closing up.

Down the incline Speckled Mouse supplanted Harlequin in third place, a long way behind the leaders.

At the turn Speckled Mouse dropped out. Coat of Arms and Honesty Dahlia led from Hope Dahlia, the latter followed up by Renown.

Invincible King came through in the straight and a hard finish ensued between him and the two favorites, the Dahlias, Coat of Arms retiring. Mr. Hill landed his pony in a winner by three lengths, while Honesty Dahlia beat his favored stable mate by a neck for second place.

Renown was fourth, Coat of Arms fifth, then Speckled Mouse, Harlequin, and Forest Child.

The time, 3 mins. 8-3/5 secs., was two ticks under the record for the distance of 3 mins, 9 secs., made by Mr. Buxey's Coronation Rose in the 1911 Derby, Mr. Burkill riding.

In addition Canada will enter a team in the International basketball series.

Percy Westaway was named chairman of the athletic committee at yesterday's session and he is empowered to name his co-workers.

In addition to going in for athletics, the Canadian Association expects to have monthly tiffins and a dance will be arranged shortly.

Officers elected are: Dr. J. W. Ross, honorary president; Rev. D. MacGillivray, chairman; A. H. Tessier, vice-chairman; D. C. MacMin, secretary-treasurer.

WHAT BABY'S OWN TABLETS ARE

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are sweet little lozenges, free from the slightest drug taste and guaranteed absolutely harmless. They dissolve readily on the tongue or may be crushed to a powder between the fingers, and can be given with the certainty of beneficial results to the youngest and most delicate child. Their purpose is to take the place of castor oil and other disagreeable and drastic medicines. The children like them because they are pleasant to take.

The first effect of Baby's Own Tablets that is usually noted is a gentle movement of the bowels due to their cleansing power. When this happens it is the best possible proof that the Tablets are doing their work. The next thing is that they sweeten the breath, cool the feverishness, if any, stop the snuffling and wheezing if the child has caught cold, relieve the pain and griping if it has indigestion or colic, allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth, destroy worms, prevent croup, and in a natural way promote calm health-giving sleep.

Baby's Own Tablets are obtainable from chemists, or direct and post free at 60 cents the vial from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

MISS RYLANDS IS WINNER OF MYSTERY 'UNT

Followed To Hidden Flags By Miss Coutts; Lady Fraser Cup Winner

SPARKE CONCEALS TRAIL

Lays Hunt So That No One Except Riders Could Find The Finish

Mr. N. L. Sparke laid a hunt for ladies on Sunday afternoon and kept his secret so well that only about 20 people even now know where the trail lay—and nine ladies are alleged to have ridden in the hunt. Two of these, it is said, disappeared, but where, how and when are also secrets, along with Mr. Sparke's trail. None of the newspaper men or special writers or admirers of lady riders or interested spectators or photographers or hundreds of the "just inquisitive" class who went to the finish, saw it.

For some hours it was thought that there was no hunt and then the secret leaked out. There evidently was a hunt and Miss Rylands, probably shrouded in mystery, was first while Miss Coutts, presumably veiled in something unknown, was second. Lady Fraser was awarded the cup for the lady who rode side saddle and finished first.

The hunt started at the Octopus Tree at 3:30 o'clock. From there on mystery, mystery and more mystery. Some say there were more jumps than in the previous Ladies hunt. Others say that two of the riders were lost. It really is not unanimous—in view of the evidence—that there was a hunt at all.

Huge Forests To Be Sold At Auction

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, Feb. 26.—The Far Eastern Government at Chita has authorised the Vladivostok Assembly to offer for auction ten million acres of forests in the Diginsk district.

A wide advertising campaign is to be launched prior to the auction.

Chita, Feb. 26.—Speaking at the Assembly, M. Krasnochekoff stated that the Vladivostok Assembly was "a mongrel organ" and must be dissolved; its acts, he asserted, were illegal.

Continuing, the Head of the Far Eastern Government said that it was necessary to maintain the Ministry of Political Defence of the Far Eastern Government in view of counter-revolutionary activities.

M. Krasnochekoff also declared that it was not necessary" to feed five hundred idle assemblymen, in order that they might control the Government." The Assemblymen, he suggested, should have confidence in the Government and afterwards, demand of the Government an account of its stewardship.

Fight Over Wages Looms In Britain

Employers Determined On Cuts, With Unions Offering Resistance

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 27.—Signs are not wanting of a coming struggle between Labor and Capital on the issue of a general reduction in wages. On the one hand, the employers, supported by an influential section of the press, have rapidly developed a pro-reduction campaign, some times actually advancing figures. On the other hand, recent speeches by the leaders of the big unions have strenuously exhorted resistance to reductions.

Mr. Hodges, the Secretary of the Miners' Federation, enjoins on the miners to prepare to prove their solidarity. He suggests a heavy Government subsidy which would enable the present profits and wages to be maintained, while reducing the price of coal to twenty shillings a ton, thereby reducing manufacturing costs and improving trade generally.

The Secretary of the South Wales Coal-Owners' Association denies the report that the coal-owners have decided to give the miners a fortnight's notice on March 31.

Thousand Jews Killed In Pogroms

The pogroms are described as of a terrible character. It is alleged that women were maltreated and tortured, and children murdered in cold blood.

Georgia Denies Tiflis Has Fallen

Wedding

BUCKINGHAM-KENNIGER

A pretty wedding was solemnised at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of Dr. A. P. Parker, 10 Quinsan Road, when Dr. Wheeler Buckingham of Lynchburg, Virginia, and Miss Bessie Kenniger of Toronto were united in marriage by Reverend Maxy Smith of the Presbyterian Mission, Shanghai.

The bride was given away by Dr. R. A. Parker of 36 Carter Road and the wedding march was played by Mrs. W. W. Bloom, wife of the dean of the Law School, 20 Quinsan Road.

Dr. Buckingham arrived in China about two months ago to join medical staff of the Presbyterian Mission Hospital at Kashing, Chek. Miss Kenniger is a graduate nurse of Canada who was born in London but has lived for several years in Canada. She arrived by the Empress of Asia.

The young couple will spend a few days in Shanghai after which they will go to Kashing where Dr. Buckingham will take up his work as physician in the hospital there.

An especially happy feature of the wedding was the presence of the groom's mother, who arrived in Shanghai a short time ago. Mrs. Buckingham is the widow of Mr. E. W. Buckingham formerly of Messrs. Buckingham and Flippin, jewelers of Lynchburg, Virginia.

Plan Construction Of Road In South

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 27.—Since the civil war of 1917, the Northern Section of the Changchow—Amoy Railway has been held by Northern troops, while the Southerners have held the Southern section. The Chiaotungchiao section has been destroyed for military reasons.

The railway company has now suggested that it proceed with the construction of the whole line, as the Southern troops have withdrawn. The Ministry of Communications approves this proposal, and a meeting of the shareholders will shortly discuss the matter.

The Ministry also approves the construction of a double track from Tangshan to Shanhaikuan on the Peking-Mukden Railway in order to facilitate the transportation of coal. The estimated cost is five million dollars, to which must be added the cost of fourteen locomotives, ($140,000) and 150 trucks, ($900,000).

Danger Of Coal Crisis Increased

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 26.—The danger of a coal crisis appears to have increased. The coal-owners have decided to give the miners a fortnight's notice immediately after March 31, when the industry will be decontrolled and a loss estimated at two millions sterling a week owing to the trade slump and decline of coal exports, which the Government are now making good, will fall upon the coal industry.

It is stated that the owners are of opinion that a 20 to 25 percent reduction of wages is necessary in order to put the industry on a sound economic footing. They urge that State control should be continued at least until an agreement has been reached between the owners and the miners.

DIPLOMATIC CHANGES

How Flies Spread Disease

The Menace of the Deadly Fly

Do you know that if flies were gifted with powers of reasoning and organisation they could, by more systematic distribution of the germs they carry, almost exterminate the human race?

Each year, ten to fifteen thousand children alone are carried off by typhoid and diarrhoea which flies spread, and if the annual total number of illnesses and deaths caused by flies were available the figure would be appalling.

Merely to kill flies on sight is ineffectual—they breed hundreds of times more rapidly than you can kill them. The remedy lies in two ways—protect yourself against them, prevent them breeding. You can do both with Milton.

Six ways of using Milton to Fight the Fly Peril

1 Use Milton on your food. Before cooking wash all fresh meat, poultry, fish, etc., or soak vegetables in water to which Milton has been added in proportion of a tablespoonful to a pint. This removes all danger of infection. Milton does not add the slightest smell or taste.

2 Spray a Milton solution around the home. This kills all germs and dissolves by-blow.

3 Spray Milton into dark corners and crevices, sprinkle it on garbage, on manure heaps, in dustbins. These are places where flies lay their eggs, but Milton will prevent them hatching.

4 Sterilise feeding bottles and milk receptacles with Milton, and remove danger from this source.

5 Apply Milton to all cuts and abrasions. Milton sterilises the wounds and promotes rapid healing.

6 Use Milton as a daily mouthwash and gargle. This is an excellent safeguard against germs which enter the body through the mouth.

All the above uses of Milton, and scores of others, are fully described in the Booklet attached to each bottle. Look for this Booklet when buying.

Does 101 Thing's

MILTON

fights the fly peril in the two most effective ways that science has yet devised. Milton does not prevent flies from entering your home, but it does afford you positive protection against their danger. Milton does not kill flies, but it does stop them breeding and multiplying, prevents them being born.

Milton is non-poisonous, non-irritant and non-inflammable. It can be used freely with perfect safety: no danger to yourself, your children, your pets.

SOLD IN 2 SIZES—8 OUNCES and 20 OUNCES — EACH MAKES GALLONS. Take MILTON in your home. Get it of your Chemist or Grocer. If he does no stock MILTON write Probst, Hanbury & Co. Ltd., 10 Nanking Road, Shanghai.

PROSPECTUS.

This Company is being formed to carry on the business of an Investment, Trust and Guarantee Company, and to act as financiers and capitalists; and one of its principal aims will be to assist local Rubber Plantation Companies in surmounting difficulties they are now faced with and thus retaining possession of valuable estates on the development of which a very large amount of capital—upwards of Tls. 15,000,000 has been expended. The present crisis in the rubber industry is no doubt caused by the general dislocation of the world's trade, and there is no reason to suppose that it will not disappear when normal conditions are restored; but in the meantime it will be necessary for all Rubber Companies to provide the funds required for upkeep and management.

Recent reports show that the market price of rubber has fallen below the figure which represents, for many Companies, the cost of production. Banks, it is understood, decline to make advances to Plantation Companies and experience has shown that applications to shareholders for further capital are unlikely to meet with success. But Companies which have exhausted their reserves and undistributed profits, will be obliged to stop all work on their estates and to discharge their staffs unless they can obtain the money which they require for upkeep and management from some other source. It is obvious that if every Company could count on the support of its own shareholders for an issue of further capital or of debentures, there would be little cause for anxiety. But while some Companies are no doubt in a position to raise funds this way, a very large number are not; principally for the reason that shareholders are unwilling to undertake further risks unless they are certain that their fellow shareholders are assuming a like responsibility. It is thought, however, that those who are genuinely interested in the preservation of valuable estates, for the ultimate benefit of those who have developed them will welcome the establishment of a concern with a capital sufficient to enable it to help every worthy applicant. Shareholders in local Plantation Companies who subscribe for shares in this Company will at least have the satisfaction of feeling that they are working in co-operation with others who have similar interests and for mutual advantage: and many of them will consider that they are justified in subscribing a sum at least equal to 10% of the nominal value of their present holdings for the protection of their investment.

If rubber remains at its present price such Rubber Companies whose production cost continues to exceed the market value of their produce must inevitably go under but it is a reasonable assumption that the sale of their estates will realize a sum sufficient to discharge all their liabilities or at any rate their liabilities to secured creditors. It is not proposed to make a loan to any Rubber Company except against a mortgage or charge on itsproperty and upon condition that no dividend is paid to its shareholders until the loan is repaid with interest.

It is anticipated that this Company will be called upon to supply a large sum each month for some time to come, but any improvement in the price of rubber will have the effect of restoring a number of Companies to a self-supporting basis. When the time comes that such loans are no longer required the shareholders will be asked to decide whether the Company shall go into liquidation or continue as a Loan and Investment Trust. For the present the Company's funds will be employed only for the purposes above-mentioned.

The minimum subscription on which the Directors may proceed to allotment is 30,000 shares. It is proposed to pay a commission at the rate of five cents per share to members of the Shanghai Stock Exchange or Shanghai Share Brokers Association who may procure subscriptions for shares of the Company.

The estimated amount of Preliminary Expenses is Taels 2,000.

The Articles of Association provide that the qualification of a Director is to be the holding of 100shares in the Company. The Directors do not propose to take any remuneration for their services until such time as the Company is earning a profit. The remuneration of the Secretaries and General Managers has been fixed by the Articles at 10% of the amount distributed by way of dividend to shareholders. They will receive no other remuneration whatsoever. Mr. A. J. Welch one of the Directors is a Director of J. A. Wattie & Co., Ltd., the proposed Secretaries and General Managers. Messrs. A. W. Burkill and A. J. Welch are members of firms who act as Secretaries and General Managers of various local Rubber Companies.

Copies of the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the Company can be inspected at the office of the Company's Solicitors at any time during business hours. A copy of the Company's Memorandum of Association is printed in the fold of this Prospectus and forms part of it.

Application for shares should be made upon the form accompanying the Prospectus and sent to the Company's Bankers, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, together with a remittance of the amount payable on application.

Where no allotment is made the deposit will be returned in full and where the number of shares allotted is less than the number applied for any balance of the deposit will be applied towards the remaining payment.

Failure to pay any future instalment on shares allotted will render previous payments liable to forfeiture.

Prospectuses and forms of application can be obtained at the Head Office of the Company or from the Company's Solicitors.

This Prospectus has been duly filed with the Registrar of Companies, Shanghai.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per Head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

HOW REPORTERS WORKED TO GET BALLOON STORY

Strategy And Resource Gave The Narrative To Public Despite Handicaps

CROSS-EXAMINING FARRELL

Plot Obtained His Experiences Before Navy Order Closed Lips

To "scoop" Secretary Josephus Daniels on the story of Hinton Kloor and Farrell; in other words, to get the story of the "lost" balloonists into the newspapers before the United States Navy Department got it at Washington—such was the task of two score United States and Canadian reporters who swooped down upon the amazed natives of Cochrane, Mattice and Clute some ten days ago.

New York reporters are reputed to be daring and resourceful. The writer, eight years ago, saw them smash police restrictions when, on the occasion of the arrival of the Carpathia with the survivors of the Titantic, they strung telegraph wires into the homes of the rescued and got their interviews and "stories" by such means; saw them a few years later charter a large steamer in Quebec to go out and meet the cruiser Essex returning with the victims of the Empress of Ireland disaster, and witnessed them break through police lines in the Halifax catastrophe disguised as workers for the Red Cross. On none of these occasions, however, did the New Yorkers display quite the same ingenuity, resource and disregard for expenditure as when on the trail of the balloonists. They entered Cochrane equipped for any emergency. They came on a special car, with their own chef, with all kinds of provisions, with dozens of typewriters, stationery, books, magazines, confectionery, and even a gramophone, with the latest Indian songs. As for clothing, neither Peary, Stefansson nor Amundsen were ever better prepared for the rigors of the Arctic zone. The little Hudson Bay post at Mattice was swept clean of snowshoes, shoepacks, mocasins, blankets and Mackinaw coats; Cochrane merchants experienced a similar windfall, and prices, responding to the law of supply and demand, simply soared.

TWO LIKELY TRAILS

Cochrane, for the first few days, became the G.H.Q. of the crowd. Scouts were sent out on the trail, going out as far as fifteen miles, but the little northern town, immensely pleased at the thought of being "put on the map," was the base. There were two trails by which the balloonists might come—Clute and Mattice. The trappers and Indians in the neighborhood were divided in their opinions, some favoring Mattice and others Clute; and it was therefore found necessary to guard both trails. This was done by sending out Indian runners from both Mattice and Clute. The Redmen were under contract—at a figure that to them must have seemed fabulous—to go out and intercept the balloonists and beat them back to the telegraph station by eight hours. Thus, the correspondents figured, they would be afforded ample time to get to the aviators before the messages of Secretary Daniels commanding them not to talk Mattice, of course, was a hundred miles away, but an engine stood by night and day under steam, prepared to take the party there within three hours. Two correspondents out of the two dozen broke from the others and decided to play a lone hand—Clermont of The New York American and Crossland of The New York Tribune. Clermont, with two Indians, ten dogs and two toboggans, started out on the Mattice trail, while Crossland, with similar equipment, went out from Clute. Their hope was to meet the aviators fifty or sixty miles out, get their story and make a dash back with the news ahead of all the others. Both men had the worst of bad luck. Crossland, who had never been on snowshoes before, but who insisted on breaking the trail, stumbled on his first day out and was badly bitten by one of the huskies. He had to camp for a day, but finally pushed on more than fifty miles, only to learn from a runner sent out after him that he had taken the wrong trail, and that the aviators were coming into Mattice—160 miles away. This meant that his lone card had been played, and that he had lost, for it was impossible to get back to Mattice in time. He was game, however, sending back this message to the more lucky ones at Mattice:

"You were right and I have lost. Good luck with your story. Hope we'll meet soon again, with different success."

Crossland had expended several hundreds of dollars for his paper, but, through a combination of bad luck, was completely "scooped" on the story.

MET THE AVIATORS

Nor did Clermont, who pushed on nearly ninety miles, fare much better. He met the aviators, camped with them overnight, got their story, and began his dash back with it, but could not stand the pace. His feet, unused to snowshoes, blistered and bled, he suffered intensely from the cold, and his progress slowed down to not more than fourteen miles a day. On the other hand, the Indian runners sent out by the other correspondents, and who met the balloonists the morning after Clermont did, came back like the wind. They even dropped pieces of tallow and cheese along the trail to slow up Clermont's dogs, and arrived in Mattice nearly eight hours ahead of him. Clermont, in fact, could only make Mattice six hours ahead of the balloonists, and not in time to pull off his "scoop," and then fell into the worst kind of hard luck by going on to Cochrane and missing the Farrell-Hinton fight, the best part of the story.

GETTING FARRELL

Despite the warning of the Indian runners, the balloonists, who arrived two hours before expected, took the reporters unawares; and before a hundred words could be got out of Hinton and Kloor they had received and read Daniels's message enjoining silence. Fortunately, however, Farrell was a half hour behind the others, and a detachment (of the reporters) was sent out to cut him off from the main force—and Daniels's message—while others remained behind to take care of Kloor and Hinton. Farrell proved easier than the most sanguine hoped for, and the inducement of a cup of hot tea readily lured him into a shack—and into the arms of the newspaper men—about a mile out on the trail.

Here Edward Klauber of The New York Times, who was elected spokesman for the journalists, put Farrell through a grueling cross-examination, taking him from Rockaway to Moose Factory and back to Mattice, and finally producing the Hinton letters, which later caused such a row. It was just as Farrell had concluded his story that Hinton entered the shack with Daniels's message, getting a punch on the jaw for his pains.

It was one thing to get the story; another thing to get it out. There are only two wires out of Mattice, one via Winnipeg and the other via Quebec; and two wires are of mighty little consequence in carrying 75,000 words within the space of a few hours. The question, therefore, arose as to which reporter of the two dozen should have a first go at the wires. After some hot debate it was decided that the fairest way would be to have a deal of the cards, with the man drawing the lowest card getting first turn on the wire, and the man drawing the highest getting the last, those in between coming in order according to the card they drew, and each man filing 500 words at a time. In this way everybody got a bit of a chance; at 3 o'clock the following morning four operators, handling two wires had sent out 50,000 words; six hours later the New York business man could read the story at his breakfast and the next day could go and see the whole episode reproduced at his favorite movie theater.

Metal Being Shipped Direct To Hamburg—Purchases Are For Cash

New York, Jan. 22.—Germany has become an important buyer of copper in this country, and shipments for German account are being made direct to Hamburg. For longer than a year Germany has been purchasing copper here, but until recently all shipments have been made by way of Rotterdam, and only the last few cargoes have gone straight to the German port of entry.

Because of relations between this country and Germany all those purchases have been for cash, conditions making it impossible for Germany to have credits established on this side of the Atlantic. It is understood, however, that arrangements have been made between banking interests in this country and Germany as a result of which credits for the purchase of copper here will be established as soon as a treaty of peace shall be signed and the state of war ended.

German buying of copper in America is expected to be heavy, although not in such great volumns in prewar days. Copper men believe that German consumers will take between 12,000,000 and 20,000,000 pounds of copper a month, whereas before the war crippled German industry shipments were running at the rate of 25,000,000 to 40,000,000 pounds monthly.

The credit which the German copper buyers will arrange here once a state of peace shall have been established will take probably the form of the revolving credit set up for the benefit of French consumers several months ago. By that arrangement France was given sufficient metal to supply her needs for a stated period, after which, with the money she received from her manufactured products, she paid for the first shipment, whereupon a second shipment was immediately made. That credit was guaranteed by French banking establishments.

U.S. Foreign Trade Heaviest In 1920

Totals $13,507,000,000 And Balance Is $3,000,000,000 In Country's Favor

Washington, Jan. 21.—America's foreign trade in 1920 was the largest in the country's history, totalling $13,507,000,000. Exports were valued at $8,228,000,000, against $7,920,000,000 in 1919, and imports at $5,279,000,000, or $1,375,000,000 greater than the imports in 1919. Thus the trade balance for 1920 was approximately $3,000,000,000 in favor of the United States, against a balance of approximately $4,000,000,000 in 1919.

In announcing the figures the Department of Commerce said exports were a third greater than they were in 1913, the first full year previous to the world war and imports were nearly three times those of 1913.

In December exports exceeded those of November 1919, but imports were smaller than they were in either of those months. The export figures for the month were $720,000,000, against $677,000,000 in November and $681,000,000 in December, 1919.

Imports amounted to $266,000,000 in December, and November figures were $321,000,000, and December, 1919, figures $381,000,000.

The balance of trade in favor of the United States for December was 454,000,000, against $301,000,000 in December, 1919.

Gold imports in 1920 amounted to $429,000,000, against $77,000,000 in 1919, and gold exports were $332,000,000, against $368,000,000 in 1919.

Silver imports last year totalled $88,000,000, against $89,000,000 in 1919, and silver exports $114,000,000 against $239,000,000 in 1919.

HOLD 'PAT' O'BRIEN DID NOT KILL SELF

Kin Of War Hero Who Visited Here Have Murder Theory

Friends of Lieutenant "Pat" O'Brien, author of "Outwitting the Hun," who visited Shanghai something over a year ago and reports of whose death as a suicide in Los Angeles were received recently, believe that the young aviator did not die by his own hand, but was murdered, according to papers just received. One account follows:

Momence, Ill., Dec. 30.—Friends and relatives here of Lieutenant Pat O'Brien, war hero and aviator, are not satisfied with the verdict of suicide rendered by the Coroner's Jury in Los Angeles, where he was supposed to have shot himself. Mrs. Clara Clagg, his sister, and his brother have begun an investigation. They make these charges:

That Lieutenant O'Brien was threatened with death by a woman on four separate occasions.

That Virgil Moore, an aviator friend of O'Brien, once wrested a pistol from this woman when she was trying to kill O'Brien.

That O'Brien did not write the "death note" found near his body, but that it was written by his slayer.

That there were no powder marks around the wound, as there must have been if O'Brien himself fired the shot at close range from a heavy army pistol.

That no inquest was held, a physician at the hotel saying it was not necessary.

That his personal possessions had all disappeared.

TO RE-OPEN INQUIRY

Efforts will be made to re-open the inquiry and the name of the supposed woman will be given the authorities at that time.

Despatches from Los Angeles at the time of the shooting of O'Brien were quite hazy as to details of the tragedy. Little information, apparently, was given out by the police.

The shock of O'Brien's death and the new theory advanced have resulted in his mother suffering a breakdown. She, cannot believe her son one of the heroes of the World War, killed himself.

The first report, in fact, stated merely that the famous aviator had been "found dead in a room in a downtown hotel." Shortly afterward a physician was quoted by the people as declaring O'Brien a victim of "wrecked nervous equilibrium," and there was another announcement that "there will be no inquest, as the Coroner is convinced O'Brien killed himself."

BLAMED 'AWFUL WOMAN'

The assembling of facts proceeded with difficulty. In the last letter, said to have been written by O'Brien, he spoke of a friend of his wife, as "that awful woman," and blamed her for the wreck of his domestic happiness.

It was learned that after O'Brien and his wife had moved to Hollywood the woman had come from Chicago on a visit. She has stated that she had met Lieutenant O'Brien while serving at a war booth with Mrs. Jessie Pershing, sister-in-law of General Pershing.

Mrs. O'Brien's version was that there had been several scenes with O'Brien, which caused her to leave their Hollywood home and take a room in the hotel in which O'Brien's body was found later. The woman joined her there.

Not the least of the mysteries about the aviator's death was the disappearance of $150,000 in cash, stocks and Liberty Bonds said to have been in O'Brien's possession.

Letter Of John Quincy Adams Reposed Since 1826 In Desk

Retiring Mayor Of Quincy, Mass., Finds Missive In Which The Sixth President Asked Supervisors To Provide Vaults For Bodies Of Father And Mother

Boston, Jan. 2.—Mayor Whiton of Quincy, Mass., in clearing out his desk in the City Hall yesterday preparatory to turning affairs over to the Mayor-elect, found a letter written by John Quincy Adams, sixth President of the United States, dated September 8, 1826. It was addressed to the five supervisors of the Temple and school funds left by Adams's father, John Adams, the second President, and in it Adams proposed that as a memorial to his father a vault containing the bodies of John Adams and his wife Abigail be constructed under the Tmple. The supervisors were Thomas Greenleaf, Josiah Quincy, Thomas Boylston Adams, Edward Miller and George E. Beale. The letter said:

"Gentlemen: Upon the decease of my late honoured father, I have considered it a duty devolving upon me to erect a plain and modest monument to his memory; and my wish is that, divested of all ostentation, it may yet be as durable as the walls of the Temple, to the erection of which he has contributed from the rocks of his native town, which are to supply the materials for it.

ASKS CONSENT OF PEOPLE

"This purpose may be most advantageously effected if the inhabitants of the town in their corporate capacity should accede to the proposition which I now make to them through you and upon which I request you to take their sense as speedily as may be convenient.

"I propose that when the Congregational Society of this town shall determine to commence the erection of the Temple they should adopt a resolution authorising you to conclude with me an agreement whereby, at my expense, a vault or and only wife—and that within the walls of the Temple, at a suitable place to be approved by me, a tablet or tablets of marble or other stone may be adapted to the side of the wall, with a view to durability, and with such obituary inscription or inscriptions as is deemed proper.

"The assent of the town to this modification in the construction of the temple I suppose to be necessary, or at least expedient, but the time when the temple itself shall be built must, I conceive, depend upon the Congregational Society and church under the pastoral care of the Rev. Peter Whitney.

WANTED CONSENT IN WRITING

"In proceeding to carry into effect the objects of the donations to the town I believe your attention will be due to keeping these distinctions in mind. The town and the parish (by which I mean the Congregational Society and Church) are distinct corporations and consist of persons partly the same and partly different. The temple, when erected, will doubtless be the property of the parish subject to the individual pew-holders, but the donations being to the town their assent seems to be necessary to fix the time for the erection of the edifice.

"I have many reasons for desiring that this may be undertaken without delay—and among the rest that both of my parents may not remain for an indefinite time without a stone to tell where they lie. Should the town and the parish both assent to my present proposal, I shall be anxious to know when the tomb may be constructed under the Temple, where may be deposited the mortal remains of the late John Adams and of Abigail, his beloved latter would propose to commence the building.

"Should they approve my design I shall take no measures for erecting a monument elsewhere, which I propose to do should there be any inconvenience in the acceptance of my offer. It will be necessary that the agreement should be in writing; perhaps by indenture, to fix the property of the vault or tomb and the tablet.

"I am, very respectfully, your friend,

Psychological Tests For French Workers

Even Recruits To Certain Army Branches Are To Be Included

Paris, Jan. 8.—France has decided to adopt the lead of the United States, Switzerland and Germany in the selection of certain trades workers by means of psychological tests, after several years of experimental studies at the Sorbonne and other French universities by prominent psychologists.

This is the principle underlying the appointment of a Parliamentary Committee on Mental Hygiene, which will determine just how far the result of mental investigation can be applied to the choosing of railroad mechanics, conductors and even to the appointment of recruits to certain branches of the French army, where nerve control is of vital importance.

As in the United States, however, there is no indication that prospective diplomats will be subjected to even the most moderate mental tests, while Government clerks and bookkeepers will be chosen, as in other civilised countries, without particular regard to their educational or natural inclinations.

Contribution For Destitute Children In Europe Made At Bible Class Dinner

ADMITS ENVYING FATHER

'Necessity Of Making His Way In The World, Which I Have Never Known

New York, Jan. 22.—John D. Rockefeller Jr., gave $1,000,000 to the proposed $35,000,000 fund for the relief of the destitute women and children of Europe at the annual dinner of the Young Men's Bible Class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church at the Hotel McAlpin last night.

Announcement of Mr. Rockefeller's gift was made by Herbert Hoover, head of the American Relief Administration, after a speech by Mr. Hoover describing conditions in Europe and after a dramatic scene, in which the members of the Bible Class insisted upon making contributions to the fund on the spot.

Mr. Hoover said later that Mr. Rockefeller's contribution was his own individual and personal gift and was not in any part his father's or a benefaction of the Rockefeller Foundation or any Rockefeller organisation. The announcement of the gift was cheered enthusiastically. The members of the class jumped to their feet and applauded Mr. Rockefeller, who seemed embarrassed by the demonstration.

After Mr. Hoover had finished his speech Mr. Rockefeller suggested that a contribution for the fund be taken at the regular meeting of the bible class next Sunday. "Men, we did not call you together to ask for subscriptions. That has never been done at a bible class dinner and it will not be done now. But the condition is unusual, and I believe we might take up a collection next Sunday."

"I move we do it now," called a man at one of the tables.

"Certainly," called another. "I second the motion," cried half a dozen or more in unison. There was a chorus of approval, which was followed by a roar of even greater volume, when a member of the class put the motion.

Several members dragged out a table and placed it near the door at the entrance and the members of the class present, 373 in number, went forward and began to shower notes upon the table. There must have been several thousand dollars at least on the table, judging from the size of the pile of notes.

Mr. Rockefeller, who had watched the scene smiling, suggested that if any of those present were not prepared to give all they wished they would have an opportunity to do so next Sunday, as he originally suggested. He then leaned forward at the speakers' table and spoke to Mr. Hoover. The latter smiled, rapped for order and made his announcement.

Before suggesting contributions to the European Relief Fund, Mr. Rockefeller said he envied his father only one thing. "I do not envy him his mother, although she was a wonderful woman, because I had a wonderful mother," he said. "I do not envy him his wife, my mother, because I have the best wife in the world. I do not envy him his children, three daughters to say nothing of a son, because I have the six best children in the world. But I do envy him the necessity he had to make his way in the world. I have never known what that was.

Shanghai's Future

At last Friday's meeting of the Civic League, Dr. John Darroch read a very interesting and thoughtful paper, which owing to pressure on our space, we were barely able to mention. Although Dr. Darroch was speaking in behalf of the resolution for extension of the franchise to rate-payers living outside the Settlement limits, he did not confine himself to this subject. Rather he dealt with the whole future expansion of Shanghai along City Beautiful lines and his remarks merit the earnest consideration, not only of the Municipal Council but of all residents. We take pleasure here in printing his paper in full:

DR. J. DARROCH O. B. E.

THERE is an impression amongst some people that the chief object of the Civic League's existence is to criticise the actions of the Municipal Council or to point out its shortcomings. This is very far from being the case. The Civic League aims at interesting all residents in Shanghai in the welfare of the Settlement we live in and provoking discussion on suggested improvements in our surroundings. We deplore the fact that so many people are apathetic on the question of municipal improvements and we believe that the more interest we can create in the administration of the Settlement the better it will be for all concerned.

We who live in this Northern district ought not to be insensible to the benefits the Municipal Council has brought into being. Some twenty years ago some one with a vision of the future planned this North Szechuen Road Extension and purchased the ground that has now developed into the Hongkew Park which is, I think, the prettiest park in the Settlement and one that any city might well be proud of.

The Council of those days foresaw that extension in this direction was bound to take place and they made provision for it. The growth of this populous district has justified the action then taken and the money spent on the Park, but had the Council of those days not taken the large view of the coming importance of this district which fortunately they did take the expansion of the residential district would have gone on just the same.

For expansion is an imperative necessity. The growth of Shanghai as a whole and its importance as the chief commercial port in the Far East develops year by year. Almost every steamer that comes to our shores brings some who hope to make their homes in the east and so there is a steady increase of population. There is no room for these people inside the bounds of the original Settlement and they must branch out North, South, East and West. It is for this reason I say that had the Council not planned this extension at the time it did you and I would probably be living in this Northern district just the same but we would be living under much less favorable conditions. We must not therefore forget our debt to the men who laid down this North Szechuen Road Extension and the park which adds so much to the amenities of the district.

Now, having acknowledged our debt to that Council of former days which did so much for us we may exercise the Briton's inalienable right to grumble because they did not do more. When planning this road why could they not have made it straight? It is true there are no straight lines in nature but that Russian Czar was a wise man who, when asked, how the railway then being designed was to run, took a ruler and drew a straight line on the map and said "Make it like that." The Council has not the power of a Czar and they probably would rather have had a straight road than one that wriggled like the trail of a serpent but think of the number of extra miles we all have to walk because of these unnecessary twists and turns. Think of the poor coolies who have toiled and sweated round those sharp curbes and of the traffic problem that has been created for lack of the foresight that would have made a straight road in place the crooked one we have all to use now!

A second point to notice is that in all the length of the North Szechuen Road Extension from Dixwell Road in the North to Range Road in the South—roughly a whole mile—there is not a single cross road. If one wishes to go East from this road to Seward Road or Broadway he has either to make a long detour round the Northern or the Southern end. This throws an unnecessary amount of traffic on the road itself and imposes very great hardship on those who have to transport heavy loads from one point to another.

A third complaint that we are justified in making is that the Council for so long turned a deaf ear to all complaints regarding the existence of the low drinking bars that earned for themselves the name of "the trenches." These have now been suppressed by the action of the Chinese authorities but I am sure we all feel that the Council would have appeared in a much more dignified light had it taken vigorous action for their suppression years ago. Of course the men who are on the Council are business men and they are apt to regard moral questions as being something in the nature of a nuisance. They don't want to be bothered with them and only take them up when public opinion forces them to take action. This is very regrettable and I think we ought at this meeting to express our gratification that the Chinese authorities were more swift to move in this matter than our own countrymen and representatives on the Council. It should be said, too, to the credit of the Chinese that they have always been found on the right side on any moral issue that has arisen in the Settlement: The suppression of the opium traffic; the elimination of brothels; regulations prohibiting the detention of young girls in houses of ill fame. In all these matters Chinese opinion was on the side of the angels and I am not sure the same can be said of foreign opinion.

We have already referred to the breadth of vision of the man who planned this extension of the residential district in this Northern suburb twenty years ago. Let us ask what is being done now to provide for the further extension that is taking place now and will take place with increased rapidity as time goes on? I am afraid we are compelled to answer that nothing is being done. This district is growing rapidly and will continue to grow but roads are not being mapped out as they should be and in fact we are rapidly reproducing here the conditions which have led to so much trouble in the Settlement. Roads start off in one direction and then double back on themselves in a most bewildering fashion. Houses are being built higgledy-piggledy anywhere and unless something is done and done at once we shall have a city of lanes and alley-ways, unsanitary and unhygienic which will be an eyesore whereas with due care and forethought we may have something that will, in some measure, merit the name of a model settlement.

The Council has not power to do all that is needed and if these most desirable things are to be done we must secure the co-operation of the Chinese authorities. With their goodwill and assistance we can make this Northern district a delightful suburb; without such assistance it is likely to be a slum.

Now, we are fortunate in having in this district a number of Chinese who are members of this Civic League. They are men of culture who have had a university education in Britain or in America. I have had the privilege of being in the home of some of those people and their homes are as well kept as my own. They are in every respect as fit for self-government as any of us whatever our nationality may be. I believe we are to have a motion that the franchise be extended to those ratepayers living outside the Settlement limits who pay the same rates as those in the Settlement. Should the franchise be so extended I think those Chinese ratepayers should have the same privileges as men of other nationalities. There are no land regulations against such a privilege outside Settlement limits and by giving these Chinese a share in the government of the district we shall secure their co-operation in getting the roads made which will benefit their people even more than they will benefit ours.

The Chinese authorities if approached in a reasonable way and by the proper people, and this is where the newly elected Chinese Advisory Council might help us, are usually very reasonable. In the early days when foreigners first came to China they were given a mud-flat in the Canton river to stay on and were not allowed on pain of severe penalties to enter the city of Canton or go a certain distance from the concession. These and kindred regulations led to continual friction and ultimately to a regrettable war. The Chinese are much more enlightened now than they were sixty years ago and they are not now likely to endeavor to box us up within narrow limits and to repeat the errors that had such disastrous consequences long ago.

Shanghai is growing and must grow. To attempt to cramp the city within narrow bounds is like practising foot-binding on a large scale. With or without our aid expansion is bound to continue. My point is that we ought to make provision for the inevitable expansion and allow the city to grow into a great and beautiful place, a credit alike to China and to those of us who are not Chinese but who have made our homes here and are proud of the place we have chosen to live in.

St. David's Day!

Hats off to the Prince of Wales and Lloyd George. They are both worthy representatives of the Principality.

"Freedom—God—Right."

And now back to China or—

THE LIME LIGHT ON LIME HOUSE

A witty Irishwoman said recently that to be Irish is like belonging to a vast secret society whose membership extends to the furthest recesses of the world. Eileen Dawn sends me a clipping from an Irish weekly in which Denis Gwynn writes that he could not help recalling that observation some time ago when a curious collection of Irish folk in London set out to explore Chinatown under the guidance of an Irish priest, who had spent some of the most interesting years of his extremely varied and original life as a curate in Limehouse.

* * *

To us in China it might be interesting to get a glimpse of London Chinatown as it is in Limehouse, and so we will let Denis Gwynn in his own style tell his story:

* * *

PICTURESQUE SIGNS

We turned back at the corner, and looked down what was practically a deserted street. A little way down two young men stood forlornly, but at any rate in warmth, beside the bright embers of a chestnut barrow—one of them a cheerful Cockney, the other a bright-complexioned young Jew. Greeting us amiably, they told us sorrowfully that Chinatown is no longer what it was—even a few weeks ago. This quiet little street, now empty, would on any evening in the good old days have been so crowded with Chinamen that you could never walk on the pavement.

But the Chinese have not all left yet, and it is not likely that they will all leave. There will probably be a period of desolation, and then they will gradually creep back. It is to be hoped, at any rate, that their wonderfully picturesque signs and posters will not disappear. For these go far to redeem even the vile squalor of that dark side-street where an empty house, all boarded up, was shown to us as the place where that tragic and beautiful County Mayo girl, whose stage name was Billy Carleton, used to be brought by a band of young degenerates, barely two years ago now, to smoke opium and take cocaine. Most of the houses are closed now, but over the doorways you can see, gradually becoming covered over with the sooty grime of London the names of Chinamen who owned them.

* * *

NO CHINESE WOMEN

What surprised me most was to see no Chinese women anywhere. There are, in fact, very few of them in Chinatown, but the Chinamen seem to find no difficulty in getting white girls to marry them. Both the doctor and our spiritual guide gave them excellent characters as husbands, saying, that they never beat their wives or neglect them. Even Irishwomen are to be found among them, and they are apparently not unhappy. But they lead an adventurous life, for the Chinamen are for ever fighting one another with knives, and a doctor or priest in Chinatown has often to go on sick calls into houses where they are fighting fiercely on the stairs.

Nor were there any Chinese children that we could see, nor indeed any children at all, except one little group of half-castes, with yellow faces and exquisitely graceful little bodies, who were playing on the pavement under a gas-lamp, using chains of silver tinsel as skipping-ropes. It was the one spontaneous, lovely thing we saw in Chinatown.

* * *

GREETING IN IRISH

Chinatown is a long way to have to go to be greeted in Irish, but the doctor's was the first salutation in Irish I had heard since before the war. He had learned it himself from his Irish-speaking parents, and such phrases of it as he remembers he still uses faithfully. We might have spent hours talking to him in his hospitable sitting-room, listening to his irresistibly whimsical stories of his Oriental neighbors, but as we had come to see Chinatown he brought us out to show us round.

It is a small place, this exotic center of squalid romance—only a group of little bystreets, clustering round the dismal and narrow thoroughfare called Pennyfields, which is the Piccadilly, or Grafton St., of Chinatown. You can walk from end to end of it easily in one minute, and there is no glamour of Oriental color round it. Pennyfields is like any one of thousands of dingy bystreets in the vast slums of London, with an unbroken row of little, lightless houses, all of one pattern, on either side. Yet even now, when the police are doing all they can to break up Chinatown, it is haunted by far-away suggestions of romance.

* * *

DESERTED HOUSES

Dusk had fallen when we got there and many of the houses were still dark, but in the doorway of almost every one of them stood, or, rather, leaned, a black, mysterious figure, smoking a cigarette. Sometimes you could not even see where the figure began or ended in the surrounding gloom, but the red glow of a cigarette shed a glimmer of light upon inscrutable eyes behind. Approaching us from under a lamppost, two closely-knit figures loomed out of the restricted glare of the light, the square jaws and flat, angular cheek-bones showing up queerly against the foggy dusk. All round us little Chinese posters or inscriptions were painted or pasted on the walls, and the half-open door gave a glimpse into a sparsely-furnished eating house, where a long poster in large red Chinese lettering set forth the bill of fare.

But many of the houses are deserted. For weeks past the authorities have been raiding the opium dens and gambling houses ruthlessly, and it would seem that most Chinese houses are either one or the other. No Chinese house is secure, by day or by night, from violent incursions.

Venus At Greatest Brilliancy; Jupiter's Moons; Saturn's Rings; The Star Canopus, Fifty-Five Thousand Times As Bright As The Sun

★ FIRST MAGNITUDE STARS ✱ SECOND MAGNITUDE STARS

Hold up this map before you as you face the south. During the early part of this month between seven and eight p.m. Sirius is straight south. Orion is past the meridian and Aldebaran and the Pleiades may be found by running a line along the three stars of Orion's belt to the right, or west. Regulus is in the east rising a little before sunset. Jupiter rises about sunset, and Saturn about half an hour later. Their position is roughly shown on the map.

The Moon's position among the stars each evening from March 14 to the 23rd is also shown. On the 17th she is at First Quarter and on the 23rd she is just before full. You will notice that she moves each night almost an "hour," or 15 degrees. She is nearest to the earth (at perigee) on the 20th and moves faster then than when she is farthest from the earth (at apogee).

Notice the curved line, which is a part of the sun's apparent path in the heavens. All the planets and the moon stay near this path but the sun is always exactly on it. At present the sun is just twelve "hours" distant, 180 degrees, from Jupiter, and on March 21 he will be exactly on the zero hour, which is just opposite the 12th hour, and right on the celestial equator.

THE PLANETS IN MARCH

We are specially favored this month with the aspect of the planets. On February 11 Venus reached her farthest point east of the sun, and she will still increase in brilliancy every day until March 17, and can be seen long before sunset if you look sharp. On March 4 Jupiter is in opposition to the sun, rising in the east just at sunset, and four minutes earlier each evening thereafter; so that all this month he will be in a most favorable position.

Jupiter is one of the most interesting objects in the sky to look at with a small telescope. You will see that Jupiter, like our earth, is flattened at the poles and bulges out at the equator, only much more so. This is because Jupiter is in partially fluid state and also rotates much more rapidly on his axis; the speed on its surface being about 23 times as fast as on our earth. With a small telescope you can also see the moons of Jupiter, which are so attractive. You will see four little points of light, like little diamonds, all approximately in a straight line, but ever changing their position with relation to each other and to the planet. Sometimes all get on one side above the planet, sometimes all are below it; sometimes one gets behind the planet and disappears from view, and sometimes one gets in front and crosses right over the face of Jupiter. To get real satisfaction out of the view one must watch for some hours; most people stop with a hasty glance.

Saturn rises half an hour after Jupiter, and on the 12th he will be in opposition to the sun. During the greater part of February it was not possible to see Saturn's rings, but now we can see the south side of the rings.

SPRING BEGINS

On March 21 at 11:37 a.m. spring begins. Why that exact moment? It is because in our annual path around the sun, the earth's equator extended to the sky will then cut exactly through the middle of the sun. Or, talking of things as they appear to us, the sun at that moment will be exactly above the equator and will move a little farther north each day until it comes almost overhead, within

Splendors Of The Sky In March

eight degrees of the zenith at noon on June 22. On March 21 the sun rises and sets exactly in the east and at exactly six o'clock, (sun time) which is true all over the world. It is, however, rather absurd to speak of spring beginning so late as that, especially in the tropics, and not ending till the June 22, when according to the almanacs summer begins. It would be better to set each of these dates back about two months.

A correspondent asks: "Why does the zodiacal highway in mid winter in our latitudes run almost overhead at its middle point, while in mid summer it lies low down over the southern horizon?"

In the first place, we must remember that to those of us who have lived in more northerly zones the southern heavens appear much higher, just as the northern skies, particularly the north star, appear much lower. "The zodiacal highway" is the apparent path of the sun, moon, and planets in the sky. It is known that all these, together with our earth, lie in practically a single plane. Now the thing that makes winter is that the north end of the axis of the earth is then turned away from the sun; but at the same time, of necessity, it is turned toward those bodies that are directly opposite to the sun: hence, if the sun is lower these are higher. Thus the full moon is directly opposite to the sun, and so when the north end of the earth turns away from the sun it turns toward the moon. When the moon is "new" it is on the same side of the earth as the sun, then it is as low as the sun in winter and as high in summer.

BRIGHT STARS IN MARCH

Of first magnitude stars we can see this month two in Orion; namely, Betelgeuse, upper left hand, and Rigel, lower right; also Aldebaran, at the end of the letter "V" to the right and upwards of Orion. Capella and her three Kids" are now high up in the north. She is not always recognised by those who have been familiar with her when rising. Notice that Capella is at the north west corner of a shield, formed out of five stars 10 to 15 degrees apart from each other. Sirius is now the chief attraction high up in the southern heavens.

In addition to these bright stars which we have discused in previous articles there are four or five others which are plainly visible in the evenings of March, and which we ought to recognise; Procyon, the little dog, can be pointed out as making an equilateral triangle with Sirius and Betelgeuse, each side measuring about twenty degrees. The Twins, Castor and Pollux, coming just about overhead at 8 p.m. should be known by everybody. Regulus, coming up in the east a little before sunset, can asily by identified by its position in the end of the handle of the sickle. But there is one other star, more famous than all these, to which we wish to draw special attention.

CANOPUS

When we see Sirius we easily conclude that we have seen the brightest star in the sky. In the early evening, during the first part of March look straight down from Sirius and you will see what is to the naked eye the second brightest star in all the skies, but which is in reality by all odds the very brightest of all. This is Canopus, only six degrees above the horizon, and therefore somewhat ruddy and obscured by the mists. When we travel farther south Canopus appears to be of the same stellar type as Sirius with the same electric blue white beams. This bright star is the most important one of the southern constellation, Argo, the ship which Jason sailed in with his fifty heroic companions in the famous Argonautic expedition to obtain the Golden Fleece. Canopus was the name of the pilot of that company, and now he stands in the prow of his celestial ship making a far more wonderful voyage each night in his circuit around the pole.

We cannot judge stars by appearances, any more than people. Sirius owes his rank to his nearness, being the second nearest of all the first magnitude stars and only eight "light years" away. Alpha Centauri, which will appear low in the southern sky next summer, from south China but not from Shanghai, while third in rank of all the stars, is the nearest of all, and also the smallest of all the first magnitude stars. It is only four "light years" distant and actually shines with about twice the brightness of our sun. Vega, which comes next in order of brilliancy, is 21 "light years" distant and is 160 times as bright as the sun. Capella is 50 "light years" away and is 300 times as bright as our little miserable sun. And so we might go on with all the stars whose light and distances have been measured. But among the twenty stars of the first magnitude there are four that are so far away that they are beyond the limits that astronomers can measure by the usual methods. One of these is Rigel, which we described in January, and said was 22,000 times as bright as our sun. But Canopus far outshines even that transplendent luminary, being both farther away, and to the naked eye appearance nearly three times as bright. It has been estimated to be more than 55,000 times as bright as our sun. Can we imagine it! Twinkle! Twinkle! Little Star!!

Some day a great southern telescope will be built in South America or South Africa that will tell us more about this enormous and splendid object, the biggest that we know. I like to look at Canopus, and think of its greatness, and I seem to hear it say: "I am fifty-five thousand times as great as your sun! Your sun is a million times as big as your earth! You are one of 1,500,000,000 inhabitants. How insignificant you are, you little, little fellow! I am 3,000,000,000,000,000, miles away. Catch me if you can! !"

And then I answer: "It is true you are very, very big and bright. You are a burning mass of dead matter. I am a living soul, and I can think about you!"

Thou lookest at the stars, my soul,
And wond rest what they be!
If I were a star in yon deep sky,
With longing and awe my might
I'd try,
That I might gaze on THEE!

Since 1874 the Fishman Trademark on the Scott package has stood for something more than merely a name. In hospitals and consumptive sanitoria Scott's Emulsion is largely used, and recommended by doctors everywhere in cases of

Proper Care Of The Baby

By BRICE BELDEN, M.D.

Among the many important points to be observed in the proper bringing up of a baby are those of exercise and outings. These things are quite as important in babies, if not more so, as in older children and adults.

A very small baby is limited to kicking and crying for exercise. Prolonged crying generally means that there is something quite definitely wrong with the child, and it is not so good for him as some people believe. Kicking is the very best thing for developing a baby from the beginning, and he should not be hampered in any way which will interfere with this sort of exercise.

At first the baby should be carried about on a pillow. Later this may be gradually discarded. In order to prevent curvature of the spine the child should be carried on one arm and then on the other, and when he reaches the age of about three months he may be allowed to sit up with the head and back well supported. At about seven or eight months the child may sit up unsupported, and at nine or ten months he may be allowed to creep.

A baby should not be coaxed to stand or walk before he has reached the proper age for this sort of exercise, or even at the proper age (about twelve months), if he has not himself shown the strength and inclination.

Outings should occur every day unless the baby is ill. A short outing is advisable at first, and if the baby starts to go out in mid-winter it is better to wait until he is about two months old, and then to take him out only on sunny days.

In the Spring or Summer a baby may be taken out as early as the tenth day after birth.

A little baby should never be trotted on the knee or lifted by the hands or arms. Over-exercise and excitement are very bad for infants.

FRENCH AWAKE TO FINANCIAL PERIL

'Total Of Our Deficit Is Frightful,' Says Dumont, Voicing Nationalist View

TALK OF RUHR SEIZURE

Many See Only Reparations Solution In 'Holding Pistol At Germany's Head'

BY WALTER DURANTY

Paris, Jan. 14.—The chief feature of Frederic Francois-Marsal's administration as Minister of Finance was the atmosphere of optimism in which he wreathed his official pronouncements. It has been succeeded by even more striking pessimism. The newly re-elected President of the Senate, Leon Bourgeois, declared in his inaugural speech that "the gulf in the country's finances is growing deeper every day, and nothing is being done to fill it. A few days ago the Government admitted that, apart from the consolidation of a small part of the floating debt, almost the total amount of available resources produced by the recent loan was, so to speak, already absorbed, and that it would be necessary to resort to what the Finance Minister called a 'daily loan' in order to cover the expenditures France had to meet from day to day."

The "daily loan" refers to the bonds of National Defense, which in practise correspond to an unlimited issue of short-term notes that are always open to public subscription.

Charles Dumont, reporter of the Chamber Finance Committee, whose name has been put forward as that of a likely successor to Francois-Marsal at the Finance Ministry, takes an even gloomier view in his report on the budget of 1921, which will be issued to the Deputies today. He writes:

"The total of our deficit is frightful. And yet the country has not expended enough money to keep its pledges to the liberated regions, whose reconstruction is hampered by lack of funds, to the common danger of peace, our financial recovery and the economic restoration of Europe."

The press and public opinion are unanimous in indorsing the views of MM. Bourgeois and Dumont. The nation is at last fully alive to the fact that France is being strangled by the crushing burden of 20,000,000,000 francs per annum which is being spent on reparations and pensions—a sum which is wholly uncovered by revenue. The total amount thus spent since the armistice is nearer forty than thirty billions. The Treaty of Versailles enjoins that all pensions and reparations are to be paid for by Germany, but hitherto little has been accomplished in that director save diplomatic wrangling.

Two days ago the conservative Nationalist majority in the Chamber of Deputies voted the downfall of the Leygues Cabinet exactly a week before the date fixed for the inter-allied conference because they believed the Premier had not been taking or was likely to take proper steps to enforce payment from Germany.

On Jan. 8 one of the Nationalist leaders, M. Bonnevay, declared in a speech at Lyons that his party was ready to assume the responsibilities of power. The following day came the Senatorial elections, which seemed to indicate that the country was swinging away from the Nationalists, who had won a notable victory in the elections to the Chamber of Deputies in November, 1919, back to the bid for popular favor with a Left Center—that is, the advanced Liberal elements who were more inclined to the course Leygues had been pursuing.

The Senatorial elections sealed the fate of the Leygues Ministry, for the Nationalists realised that unless they acted promptly the support of the country would slip away from them. They intend to bid for popular favor with a platform "make Germany pay." Whatever may be the composition of the new Cabinet, it is certain that this will be France's policy with regard to reparations. How hard that policy will be pushed will depend largely upon the personalities of the Ministers of Finance and Foreign Affairs; but, in any case, the Nationalists will do their utmost to spur them on.

The immediate result is likely to be a sharp divergence of opinion with Lloyd George, who throughout the last year has advocated a policy of discussion and compromise on the reparations question with Germany. If the Nationalists have the courage of their convictoins to ignore British disapproval and hold a pistol at Germany's head, anything may happen.

In Nationalist circles there are many who frankly believe that the only chance France has of ever getting adequate compensation from Germany is to occupy the Ruhr district and bluntly bid the miners choose between a fair wage with plentiful food, and expulsion or other forms of pressure. With the Ruhr coal fields and the vast industrial wealth of Westplialia in her hands, it is argued, France could afford to ignore the nonpayment of reparations to her, whether Germany went bankrupt. Bolshevist, or blew right up. With her coal supply assured France need not fear England's protests, for, unlike he other great Powers of Europe, in normal times she is practically self-supporting as far as food is concerned, and more than 60 percent of her population gets its living in one form or another from her own soil. The imports she chiefly needs—cotton, hides, petroleum and wool—she could pay for by means of her luxury exports and sit secure inside the barrier of a high tariff, whose harmful effects would be counteracted by high wages.

Whether such a policy is feasible, and whether, if it is feasible, the Nationalist majority has the courage—and the public backing—needed to put it into action is an open question. But the fact remains that it indicates the direction in which the Nationalist ideas are tending.
